

BRANDEIS UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF STUDENT AFFAIRS
SOCIOLOGY DEPARTMENT
MARTIN WEINER LECTURE FUND

presents a two day colloquium on
Apartheid in Southern Africa

MAY 5th and 6th 1976

INTERNATIONAL
LOUNGE

Usdan Student Center

An open forum will follow
each event.

Anti-Apartheid Movement
of the U.S.A. is a New York
based organization working with African Liberation Groups. Its aim is to build an effective organized apparatus in the U.S. that will oppose U.S. involvement in Southern Africa. AAMUSA seeks to link struggles for liberation in this country with those in Southern Africa. Chapters have been organized in Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Md., and Gary,
Indiana.

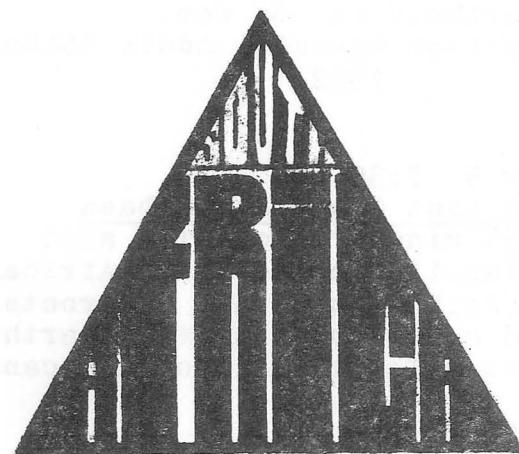

For further information
write:

AAMUSA
346 West 20th Street
New York, New York
10011
(212) 989-6389

Special thanks to:
Ruth Morgenthau
Gordon Fellman
Joan Coombs
and the many concerned students who helped put the colloquium together

Art work: Robin L. Bergman

APARTHEID IN SOUTHERN AFRICA

20th Century
Slavery

Liberation Movements in Southern Africa

"The center and cornerstone of the struggle for freedom and democracy in South Africa lies in South Africa itself...It is first and foremost by our own struggle and sacrifice inside South Africa itself that victory over white domination and apartheid can be won.

--Nelson Mandela, Addis Ababa
1962

May 5 7:30 p.m.

The Last Grave at Dimbasa

a 55 minute color film shot illegally inside South Africa. Describes in detail the roots and consequences of the Apartheid system for 19 million Africans.

8:45 p.m.

Dr. Bernard Magubane

Ph.D. from UCLA. Associate professor at University of Connecticut. Author of several books and one of the leading historians on the struggle in South Africa. Member of the African National Congress for many years before being forced into exile.

U.S. Involvement in Southern Africa

"The South African issue is symbolic of the last and the greatest struggle for freedom and equality in Africa. If the United States can take the leadership in ending the reign of apartheid, it will be the greatest possible step toward establishing the United States as the champion of equality and freedom. To fail on this issue would be disastrous.

--American Committee on Africa

May 6 4:00p.m.

Dr. Sean Gervasi

Graduate of Oxford University, Ph.D. from Cornell. Has lectured in Economics and Political Science at Cornell, Cambridge, London School of Economics, Oxford and University of Paris. Currently teaching at Brooklyn College.

Struggle in Namibia

"The majority population of ten to one is not allowed to choose where they want to live; they are imprisoned and tortured if suspected of political activity..."

--Mishake Muyongo, Acting Vice President of SWAPO

May 6 7:30p.m.

Liberation Struggle in Namibia

a 45 minute color film on the development of the armed struggle in Namibia. Gives a history of the national liberation movement and its work with the people in the country.

8:45 p.m.

Ben Gurirab

Chief Representative of the South West Africa People's Organization (SWAPO), Observer Mission to the United Nations. Chief Representative of SWAPO for the United States.