ANGOLA - The Second War

ANGOLA: THE SECOND WAR focuses on the MPLA (Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola) and its efforts to create a strong and independent government in the People's Republic of Angola that will reflect the aspirations of the Angolan people. The film reports on the military struggle waged by the FAPLA (Armed Forces for the Liberation of Angola) against the armies and agents of imperialism and neo-colonialism. It also describes the implementation of "people's power", the manner by which the MPLA provides for the popular participation of the Angolan masses in the process of nation-building.
